Dastardly Act of an Artisan,

Who Undermines a Church and Entails a Loss of $500 Because He is Discharged.

The Alabama Regulators Lynch a Notorious Desperado and Murderer.

AN ATROCIOUS ACT.

A Discharged Workman's Spiteful Vandalism

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 14.—An amazing act of vandalism has occurred in this city. On Saturday evening Mike King, a workman who has been employed by Russell Bros., contractors, on the basement of the United Presbyterian church in the process of construction in this city, was discharged for inefficient work. About 9 o'clock that evening the wretch took his tools and commenced breaking off the corners of the fine cut-stone work of the basement. He worked steadily at his villainous task until 11 o'clock, and then skipped. The entire basement will have to be torn down and rebuilt with fresh stone at a cost of $500. King recently came from Texas. He left for Columbus, and has not been captured yet.

A LYNCHING PARTY

Take a Desperado from Jail and Hang Him.

NEW ORLEANS, July 14.—A special from Livingston, Alabama, says Steve Renfro, a notorious desperado and escaped convict, who was captured near Enterprise, Mississippi, last Monday, and brought here and placed in jail last evening, was taken from the prison last night and hanged by masked and unknown men.

WHELMEN.

They Make a Grand Tour of Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—About fifty Indiana bicyclists to-day completed their annual tour. They left this city on Thursday last, going to Rushville, thence to Lewisville, New Castle, Pendleton, Noblesville, Tipson, Kokomo, Crawfordsville and Lebanon, and from Lebanon to this city, arriving here at 1 o'clock to-day, having covered the distance of about 200 miles.

British Elections.

LONDON, July 14.—The conservatives have a plurality of seventy-three over the liberals of every shade, but as compared with the members of all the other parties are in a minority of four, the count standing: Conservatives, 295; all others, 299. There are still seventy-six districts to be heard from.

A Hard Prize Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—John Dobson and James Harley had fought eight stubborn rounds with hard kid gloves, near Indian Rock, Fairmount Park, yesterday morning, when the alarm was given that the park guards were coming. The referees decided the fight a draw.

The Teachers.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 14.—Eight thousand delegates were gathered at Topeka, Kan., last night, for the National Educational association's convention, which opened this morning. It was found necessary to erect 200 tents in Capitol square, it being impossible to lodge all the visitors in hotels and private houses. A reception was tendered the delegates last evening in the Opera house, Governor Martin delivering the address of welcome.

Hoosier Milliners Fail.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., July 14.—H. Reiser & Co., wholesale millinery, have assigned. Liabilities, $20,000; assets about the same.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Culled for the "Sentinel" Readers.

J. F. Mickey, a respected business man of Muncie is dead.

Thomas Uselman, a pioneer of Parke county, died suddenly one day last week aged 75 years.

The first convention of the Miami county Sunday school union will be held at Denver, July 29 and 30.

Ira Ganz, living in Kosciusko county, has lost both hands, and will probably lose both feet, with the gout.

At the joint convention of Miami and Cass counties, held at Logansport, Charles G. Cox, of Cass, was nominated for representative.

Robert Jolly, of Indianapolis, is seeking to secure a divorce from his wife on the ground that he was drunk when he married her and did not know what he was about.

Jerry McCarty, employed at the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan railroad shops, at Wabash, while mixing alkalies, was badly injured about the face by the explosion of the compound. The doctors fear he will lose an eye.

Evansville has forty churches, allotted as follows: Baptist, 10; Methodist, 9; Presbyterian, 5; Roman Catholic, 5; German Evangelical, 3; Lutheran, 2; Jewish, 2; Protestant Episcopal, 2; Christian, 1, and Unitarian, 1.

The colored people are making extensive arrangements for the celebration of Emancipation day at Greensburg, Aug. 3. Ex-Senator Bruce has assured John Sherman that he will positively be present and address the people on that occasion.

The democratic state central committee is called to meet at Indianapolis next Tuesday. The state convention will probably be held on or about August 10th. The republican committee was in session Monday but did not call their state convention, but it will probably be held September 1st.

COUNTY TAXES.

The Board of Equalization Grinding Away.

The county board of equalization is still in session and so far have done nothing but discuss the advisability of cutting down the assessment in the city about 5 per cent. This would be agreed to, but a few big tax payers, already assessed very low, would reap the benefit, while small property owners would get but slight relief. Commissioner Brannan made a great plea for low taxes this morning and one or two members of the board are with him. The whole county assessment will be equalized if the citizens just exert themselves and go before the board to urge a reduction. Assessor Slater, instead of cutting taxes down in his revised assessment, has increased them in the Fourth and Fifth wards and added to the burden in the city. The board of equalization should throw the whole assessment out as excessive, as compared with outside townships.

The remains of Miss Agnes Green, aged twenty-four, and the eldest daughter of Rev. J. Green, presiding elder of the Warsaw district, North Indiana M. E. conference, who died suddenly at her home in Wabash of brain disease Monday, were brought to Fort Wayne at noon and interred in Lindenwood cemetery. Quite a large number of friends attended the funeral.

Gottlieb Kramer had his right hand mangled by a saw in a factory at Arcola yesterday. He is now at his home in this city and Dr. Rosenthal will try to save all but one of his fingers.

Soloman Baum was made a full fledged citizen, receiving his final papers from Judge Hensch to-day.

Samuel B. Furman and Carrie Wright have been licensed to wed. The groom is a brother of Mr. A. A. Furman.

Before Judge Hensch: Samuel H. Shoaff by Thomas B. Shoaff, vs. Francis H. Wolke et al.; evidence heard and finding for the plaintiff; George D. Crane was appointed commissioner. Eurilla Driver vs. Enoch Driver for divorce; judgment of dismissal.

Mr. J. H. Bass and G. W. Pixley & Co., this afternoon obtained control and purchased the old Central block, on East Berry street, from Henry Immell. Mr. Bass held a mortgage on the property and the Messrs. Pixley paid $16,000 for the west forty feet and will erect a business block on the site which includes forty feet west, owned by Mr. Pixley and Mason Long.

IN THE FOOT HILLS.

An Antediluvian Captive Has His Cell Broken Into.

[Special Correspondence.] PESCADERO, Cal., July 8.—A recent find up in the foot-hills of the Pacific coast range of mountains has added another to the catalogue of those creatures that are able to maintain an existence during periods which it makes one giddy to contemplate, and, apparently, under the most unfavorable circumstances. A few days ago a party of laborers engaged in excavating for a road along the side of a mountain spur, with a precipitous declivity upon one side and a yawning canyon on the other, lighted upon a collection of bowlders, water-worn and rounded by tide or current in some long past elemental dispensation. One of these, too heavy for the handling, was broken up. Its interior disclosed a cavity containing a member of that unpleasant fraternity of exaggerated spiders known as the tarantula. When first discovered the animal was of a bright green complexion and symptomatically comatose, but after a brief experience in this enlarged environment it regained the inquisitive characteristic of its race, as well as a large share of those irascible and belligerent tendencies by which the tarantulas are distinguished. The cavity in which this antediluvian was inclosed was about an inch longer than the animal, and at one extremity of the same there were traces of textile work, as if at some time or other during its incarceration it had indulged in visions of domestic ties and social enjoyments to be realized in some dulcified posterity.

It is noteworthy that the creature here spoken of was to all appearances of the same species with those that are now common in the locality where it was discovered. This would justify the suggestion that the tarantulas, in spite of a somewhat unpleasant name and ignoble appearance, are a family of no mean antiquity. The rock in which the individual was immured being of the sedimentary species, the commitment must have occurred while it was in the process of formation. The abundance of remains of marine shells in the locality where the discovery was made would seem to indicate that the stratum in which the creature was contained had, at some time, been a part of the bed of an ocean. From these incidents, with some assistance of the imagination, we may construct a brief outline of the history and experiences of the elderly captive.

At a date to which, in all probability, Adam's fall was comparatively an event of yesterday, the party in question, taking his constitutional upon the border of some nameless primordial ocean, was suddenly overwhelmed by a wave, and buried in the sand by which it was accompanied. In the course of centuries, more or less, the sand having in the meantime solidified, the concrete, through one of those changes of level which the surface of our globe is addicted, became a part of the sea bottom, to be inhabited by molluscs of various species, and to serve as a cemetery for the generations of their posterity. Broken up, after eons have elapsed, by some interstitial colic, its fragments, worn into rotundity by tidal surges, are slowly lifted by forces from beneath until that which was once the bottom of an ocean becomes the top of a mountain, there, perhaps, to begin again a circuit of subsidence and elevation.

How was the involuntary captive affected by the vicissitudes of the vehicle in which he was a passenger? Was his life one long lethargy, or did the rude shocks to which his equiptage was, now and then, subjected, rouse him to a state of semi-consciousness and prompt him to a little exercise of a little tarantular profanity at the roughness of the thoroughfare over which he was being transported? Had he even the shadow of an idea that he was destined to the dignity of a living link between the unbreached infancy of the human world and the Christian civilization of the Nineteenth century? How many empires have been erected and subverted; how many dynasties have been elevated and extinguished; how much history has been made and forgotten; how many millions of millions of human beings have lived out their little span and surrendered to an insatiable oblivion; how many loves and hates, and faiths and fanaticisms and ambitions and intolerances, have been born and died; how much of human dignity and meanness have been manifested and honored or despised, while this insignificant creature has been doing away the centuries in his inexorable environment, and though deprived of air and food, clinging to its minute spark of vitality, as if that which is, to other creatures, a sentence of death, were to it an assurance of an endless existence?

The tarantula-Americana belongs to the order of burrowing spiders. It digs no net for the capture of its prey, but digs a pit in the ground which it lines with a tissue of its own manufacture, surmounting the same with a trap door so contrived that it closes of itself, and so colored upon the surface as to be indistinguishable from its surroundings. Hidden there, environed by telephonic lines of his own construction, he obtains timely notice of the approach of any creature with which he inclines to hold an interview, and conducts himself accordingly. Although able to endure, as would appear from the foregoing, a fast of a few years and years, more or less, in continuing, he is a creature of lively appetite and an untiring digestion; and, being supplied with very efficient weapons both of offense and defense, the interviews which he solicits are apt to terminate to the disadvantage of the party interviewed.

Speaking of burrowing animals, one would be inclined to suppose that, of all creatures, the one least adapted by natural conformation and reputed quietude of disposition, to the work of rock excavation, would be a clam. And yet there is a species of this mollusk—the very emblem of contented ease and happy inertia—inhabiting the coasts of the Pacific, between high and low water, which bores for itself a place of residence in the friable sand rock of the region, and there lives, multiplies and expatiates. The burrowing clam is of the round, hard-shelled family, similar to the quahog in shape, about the half of a silver dollar in diameter, and having no projecting soft parts. It appears to live in colonies, though each individual has its separate homestead, and is obtained by breaking up the rock into which it is inclosed. It is prized as an eatable. How this seemingly helpless creature contrives to penetrate the rock in which it makes its habitation, what are the tools which it employs or to what end are labors which, to compare small things with great, must be Herculean, undertaken and prosecuted, are questions reserved.

An unknown animal is troubling the sheep owners in Fountain county. Two or three hundred sheep have recently been laid low in that locality by the midnight prowler.

HE FLED!

A Prominent St. Louis Man Defaults.

And Compels the Provident Bank to Suddenly Close—He Was a High Flyer.

The Striking Convicts are to Be Starved or Shot into Submission.

TWO OF THEM.

Maxwell Sentenced and a Bank Cashier Escapes.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Hugh M. Brooks alias W. H. Lenox Maxwell, convicted of murdering Ohas. Arthur Preller, was sentenced this morning to be hanged August 27th, 1886.

The Provident savings bank closed its doors to-day, and has made an assignment. Almond B. Thompson, the cashier, has absconded. The liabilities exceed the assets by $40,000.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Thompson is a graduate of Harvard college and since he has held this responsible position in this city has been regarded as a man of sterling integrity. He is the president of the Harvard club, of this city, and of the light cavalry, and a prominent Knight Templar. He announced his intention last week of accompanying the light cavalry to the state encampment at Sweet Springs and it was generally supposed he was there. Advice from that point, however, state that he has never been near the camp and it is supposed he has joined the army of defaulters in Canada. No other cause for his defalcation can be assigned than fast living, for he was never known to speculate. The directors of the bank have filed a petition for a receiver.

W. H. Thompson was appointed receiver. The bank's statement of yesterday showed assets, $1,668,829; liabilities, $998,782. The directors say they cannot realize on the assets to the full amount.

The Strikes.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The 400 rug weavers, who have been on a strike at the rug and carpet manufactory of John Bromley & Sons, returned to work yesterday under protest. The strike was caused by the refusal of the firm to lay off a learner.

NASHVILLE, July 14.—Cole City, Dad county, Georgia, where are located the mines worked by convicts, is the scene of intense excitement. One hundred state prison convicts there have refused to work, and the authorities think they will have to shoot the ring leaders or starve the whole body into submission.

CUT IN PIECES.

A Son and Father Attack a Neighbor and are Knifed.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 14.—Near West Fork, this county, Rev. John Lokey and McClelland disagreed as to the location of the line between their farms and had a furious quarrel. Lokey seized his gun and attempted to shoot his antagonist, but the cap snapped. The father and son again assaulted McClelland, when the latter drew his knife. The old man and boy were literally cut to pieces and there is no hope for their recovery. McClelland had his preliminary trial yesterday and was acquitted.

Knights of Pythias.

TORONTO, July 14.—Six thousand uniformed Knights of Pythias paraded yesterday, the occasion being the session of the supreme lodge, which referred to a special committee a ritual for a ladies' rank.

No Change in Price of Nails. PITTSBURG, July 14.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Western Nail association held here yesterday the rate on nails was reaffirmed. Trade was reported fair and stocks light.

WE WIN.

Two More Lottery Prizes Come to Fort Wayne People.

The Louisiana lottery drawing occurred yesterday. No. 81,375 drew the capital prize, No. 77,227 the second and No. 19,406 the third. Two fifth tickets of the capital prize were sold here and Mr. Fred C. Boltz, the agent, has ascertained that William Clem, a farmer living four and one-half miles from Monroeville, bought one of them and wins $15,000. Several approximation tickets were sold here and a number of people get $150. George Zurbach, of New Haven, gets that amount, but the lucky holder of the other fifth of the capital prize has not made his appearance.

Mr. Clem came to town at noon and had doubts about his fortune until Agent Boltz sent the ticket on for collection. Mr. Clem will get his gold by return mail and is correspondingly happy. Mr. Boltz inclines to the belief that another fifth of the approximation prize was not sold here, although his clerk, Will Mannix, believes it was. The lucky person has not responded.

G. F. Watt, the commission merchant, drew an approximation prize of $150, as did T. H. Sullivan, of Garrett, and E. Burnett, of Jackson.

An Old Soldier Talks.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL. As regards Judge Lowry's resolution to loan tents to the soldiers' reunion to be held here, I would state that a similar resolution has passed every session of congress during the last ten years, but the tents were not loaned, for the reason that the government has no tents. All the tents owned by the government were given to the sufferers of the Ohio river floods and the government is not manufacturing any tents. The regular army is quartered in barracks permanently established, and until there is another war the government will not purchase or manufacture tents for soldiers. If the reunion committee is expecting tents from "Uncle Sam" to quarter the million or more veterans that will be here next month, they will be minus shelter from the storms and diarrhoeas of August. OLD SOLDIER.

The July Scientific American.

We are indebted to the book store of Keil & Bro., for a copy of the Building Edition of the Scientific American for July. Two elegant plates in colors, of two different dwellings of moderate cost, are given in perspective, with large sheets of details and specifications. There is something delightfully realistic about this method of presenting architectural work. Not only are the plans and construction set before us, but the houses themselves as they actually appear, with their grounds and surroundings, are depicted in natural shades and tints. A full idea is thus gained how the intended dwelling will look. In addition to the above attractive features, the number contains a variety of fine engravings of cottages, dwellings and plans, with various other interesting subjects, all richly illustrated. The cheapness of this elegant work is surprising—only 15 cents a number, $1.50 a year. It enjoys and deserves a large circulation.

Obituary.

Mrs. Clarissa Kelsey, born in Montgomery county, Ohio, Aug. 2d, 1804, died at her residence in Zanesville, Thursday morning July 8th, 1886, aged 81 years 11 months and 6 days. About fifteen years ago she was stricken down with paralysis and had since been an invalid. Oct. 25th, 1821 she was united in marriage with John Kelsey, who survives her, making nearly sixty-five years they lived together in the holy bonds. She loved to mourn her loss an aged husband, six children, two brothers and quite a number of grand and great grandchildren and very many friends. Two sons and two daughters preceded her to glory. In 1827, she united with the Baptist church and was a constant, humble christian fifty-four years and died in the faith of the gospel and the hope of immortality. She left a home and kind friends on earth for a grander home and dearer friends in heaven. Her house was in order and she was ready to depart, as she often said. Her funeral was largely attended on Friday afternoon, the 9th. The services were conducted by Rev. Johnson, pastor of the United Brethren church, of Zanesville. E. K.

A Naval Change.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Commander W. T. Sampson, at present in command of the torpedo station at Newport, has been ordered to duty as superintendent of the naval academy to succeed Captain Ramsey.

FIGHTS!

The Battle Of the Boyne Again.

The Streets Of Belfast Red With The Blood of the Police and Orangemen.

A Severe Storm of Hail and Rain Prevails on Land and Sea.

A DISGRACEFUL RIOT.

The Catholics and Orangemen Have Another Fight.

DUBLIN, July 14.—During the rioting at Belfast last night between the Catholics and Protestants, four taverns and a number of dwellings were wrecked. The police and soldiers charged the rioters several times and they at last succeeded in clearing the main streets. In the alley-ways, however, dangerous knots of men are lurking and fears of a renewal of the disturbance are entertained. Among those wounded last night was a sergeant. It is thought he cannot recover. A constable and many civilians received severe wounds. This morning the head constable of the Waterford force, and a private soldier, attempted to arrest two Orangemen, father and son. The latter shot and killed both the constable and soldier. The situation at Waterford is serious. The streets are being patrolled by police and cavalry.

BELFAST, July 14.—The city is quiet to-day. An investigation shows that most of the fighting was between the police and the Orangemen, the latter assaulting the former because they prevented the Orangemen from attacking the Catholics. Policeman Gardner, who was reported killed, is not dead, but is fatally injured and is lying at the point of death. Two civilians, named MacWaters and MacElry, were badly hurt.

HEAVY STORMS

Sweep Over the Country, Damning Property and Crops.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Last night's storm was a severe one on the lake. The wind blew great gusts and nearly all night there was a furious gale. Notwithstanding the severity of the storm there were comparatively few accidents to vessels reported.

AT PITTSBURG.

a severe electrical and wind storm accompanied with rain and hail visited this section early this morning, doing great damage to fruits and cereals. The storm broke over the city about 2 o'clock and continued without abatement for three hours. During that time the rain fall was one and one-half inches. Along the Ohio river between Steubenville and this city, the storm was particularly severe.

AT DETROIT

yesterday the storm was very severe. Large hail stones cut down corn and other vegetables. The storm was general throughout the state.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Wheat, weak, cash, 78½c. August, 79½c. Corn, dull, Oats, steady, 29½c.

NEW YORK, July 14.—Wheat, opened ½c lower, but later ruled stronger and advanced ½c, leading to a fair degree of activity; No. 2 red for August, 87½c. Corn, opened ½c lower, but later reacted ½c, and closed at 43½c. Oats, quiet and steady at 36½c.

Mrs. Kate Headington, a Muncie milliner, has made an assignment for the benefit of her creditors. The assignee is C. K. Wright, of that city. Her liabilities are $3,000; assets about $2,500. The principal creditor is Mr. Wright, of Union City, whose claim of $1,400 is secured by mortgage on the stock.

A LITTLE SUFFERER

Cleansed, Purified, and Beautified by the Cuticura Remedies.

It affords me pleasure to give you this report of the cure of a little grandchild by the Cuticura Remedies. When six months old his left hand began to swell and had every appearance of a large boil. We physicians tried all to no purpose. About five months after it became a running sore. Soon other sores formed. He then had two of them on each hand, and as his blood became more and more impure it took less time for them to break out. A sore came on the chin, beneath the under lip, which was very offensive. His head was so solidly discharging a great deal. This was his condition at twenty-two months old, when I undertook the care of him, his mother having died when he was a little more than a year old, of consumption (scarcely of course). He could walk a little, but could not get up if he fell down, and could not move when in bed, having no use of his hands. I immediately commenced with Cuticura Soap freely, and when he had taken one bottle of the Cuticura Resolvent, his head was completely cured, and he was improved in every way. We were very much encouraged, and continued the use of the Remedies for a year and a half. One day after another healed, a bony matter forming in each one of these five deep ones just before healing, which would finally grow loose and were taken out, and they would heal rapidly. One of these ugly bony formations I preserved. After taking a dozen and a half bottles he was completely cured, and he is now at the age of six years, a strong and healthy child. The scars on his hands must always remain; his hands are strong, though we once feared he would never be able to use them. All that physicians did for him did him no good. All who saw the child before using the Cuticura Remedies and see the child now consider it a wonderful cure. If the above facts are of any use to you, you are at liberty to use them.

Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to undermine and destroy; is indeed a blessing beyond all other human attainments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have tried many remedies and physicians in despair of relief or cure.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 14, 1886.

MR. LARKIN, who was for ten years a sort of secretary and intimate associate of Carlyle, says that the open secret of the Scotchman's life was his desire to be a man of affairs rather than a writer. "Little as some of his critics imagine it," says Mr. Larkin, "his heart was sick of perpetually exhorting and admonishing. He longed to be doing something instead of, as he says, eloquently writing and talking about it; to be a kind of king or leader in the practical activities of life, not a mere prophet, forever and forever prophesying."

THERE is at Louisville, Ky., a preacher named Buckley, who claims to possess divine power. A night or two since an immense crowd assembled to see him restore a child to life. He said he had the power to raise the dead, but that power, which came from God, was limited and not perfect. He could not raise the adult dead, but he could restore dead children to life. Still, his power in that respect was limited, and he could not raise a child that had been dead longer than two days, while the child that was in the vault had been dead over five days.

DR. SUTHERLAND is greatly worried about one statement made in accounts of the President's wedding. He says: "The papers are wrong in saying Mrs. Cleveland drank wine on her wedding night. She did not. I stood beside her, and can speak the truth in saying that not a drop of wine touched her lips. As the wedding party stood about the table and wine was poured out Miss Rose Cleveland filled a glass with apollinaris water, sent it around to Mrs. Cleveland, and then filled another for herself; they drank with the rest. Mr. Cleveland drank champagne, as he will doubtless continue to do."

THERE are not materials at hand, says the San Francisco Alth, to form precise opinions in relation to the effect which environment has produced on the Californians of the first generation. That it has caused some modifications can not be doubted. Observation tends to establish that the young Californian is of a lighter temperament than his Eastern cousins. That he is more temperate and at the same time more fun-loving is beyond question. The predecessors of the pioneers in California were the most abstemious of the human race. But most marked characteristics will be developed in the second generation of Californians that is now slowly coming up.

A REMARKABLE case of fidelity to a dead friend has come to light in Alabama. George Davis, of Seale, that State, murdered Archibald Reams, and when asked why he did so, there being no apparent motive, he replied: "That is my business and Reams's." It is apparent that he was willing to give the dead man a fair show, and offered him a chance to have the first word. A still more singular fact in connection with Davis, who was hanged, was the speech he made on the scaffold, in which he warned all young men against marrying, and not to tell a young lady they loved her unless they really meant it. That is the only safe way to avoid a breach of promise suit, but what that had to do with the killing of Archibald Reams is not apparent.

Why Is It

That the sale of Hood's Sarsaparilla continues at such a rapidly increasing rate? It is—

ON GETTYSBURG FIELD.

MONUMENTS ERECTED TO THE DIFFERENT REGIMENTS.

Gallant Gen. Dan Sickles Speaks—What Hancock Said at Gettysburg—Reunion of the Veteran Third Army Corps Upon the Field.

July 1, 2, 3, 1863, was fought in Adams county, Pa., the fight of Gettysburg, one of the great battles of the civil war. Whenever the name is mentioned, the mind instinctively reverts to Gen. Hancock. By the way it was a black horse and not a white one, as is generally supposed, that Hancock rode on that historic field. His saddle steed was so covered with dust that it looked white, they say, and that gave rise to the white horse fiction.

Washington swore at Monmouth, so also did Hancock swear at Gettysburg, and that furiously. A certain part of our army was badly demoralized at one point of the battle. Hancock went thundering over there upon his black horse. He saw a colonel whom he knew, with a brigade. Longstreet's men were advancing in plain sight. It was a moment of suspense. At that portion of the lines there seemed to be no order or anything. Those who should have given command had lost their heads. In this emergency the colonel said to Hancock:

"General, we can't get any orders here. Don't you think I better try and delay Longstreet as much as possible, with my little brigade?" Gen. Hancock gave a glance at the coming foe, and replied instantly: "Yes, and—quick."

That is one of the real incidents of battle—field which writers do not put into history, because they fancy they do not sound fine, nor look well in type.

This twenty-third anniversary of the fight at Gettysburg was the greatest occasion since the war. The Third army corps had a reunion, the old Third army corps, that is, the volunteers who fought the fight. From New York and New Jersey, from New England, from Pennsylvania, Indiana and Minnesota, they gathered and many distinguished men were there, too.

The orator of the occasion was Gen. Daniel E. Sickles. Gen. Sickles had been on the Gettysburg battlefield before. He had not forgotten it, for he lost a part of himself there. Here it was he lost his leg. It was amputated upon the battlefield. He commanded the famous old Third corps during the fight. The 2nd of July was called the Third corps' day because it was on this date that they made their great fight. The soldiers and their commander were young men then, reckless boys many of them. Now they are all gray heads together.

The autumn after the fight, part of the battle ground was made a national soldiers' cemetery. It was dedicated to this use by President Lincoln himself, in his most famous oration. Here it was that he used the historic words: "In order that government of the 3d Mass. Battery, people, for the people and by the people might not perish from the earth."

In the Gettysburg cemetery lie the bodies of 3,600 soldiers. The different states engaged in the fight have placed monuments to their dead upon the ground. That of the Thirteenth Massachusetts represents a color-bearer. This monument stands near the Munarsburg road. Near the point called "Round Top" is the "solid pillar" which stands as a memento of the Third Massachusetts battery. It has a pile of cannon balls on top and the corps badge carved upon its stone face. Massachusetts was largely represented on that fateful day, and lost heavily in every arm of the service. A quaint monument is that of the First Massachusetts cavalry among the rest at Gettysburg. It consists of merely an upright, rough, four-cornered stone. A horse's head and crossed sabers are carved upon it in much the same manner as the drying rack was carved upon the cliff at Lucerne, Switzerland, by Thorwaldsen. Below an inscription upon a densely black ground designates the number of the cavalry regiment and the brigade and division to which it belonged. The words "on detached service" are added below.

Gen. Sickles delivered his oration standing in the open field, beside the monument of the One Hundred and Fourteenth Pennsylvania regiment. Gen. Sickles was a lawyer in practice in New York city before the war, and not a West Pointer. Though he made one of the best of the minor commanders. Afterwards he went as minister to Spain from 1869 to 1874. The monuments are placed directly upon the battle ground. They indicate where the respective regiments designated by them stood in position during the fight. Some of them undoubtedly stood in several places before it was over. Twenty-one additional monuments were dedicated during this anniversary.

Gen. Sickles returned from Spain to resume his old law practice in New York. He is still occupied with it. Next to his speech the principal oration of the occasion was made by Col. A. Wilson Harris. It was in dedication of a monument to mark the spot where Gen. Reynolds, of Pennsylvania, fell. The state, mindful of him, set up the stone.

No two of the monuments are exactly alike. There is nothing particularly striking about them, though they are substantial, and most of them tasteful. Within narrow limits there is much variety. The great memorial mark of this battlefield is that upon the hill in the cemetery. It is a column sixty feet high, with a statue of Liberty upon the top—a national monument.

The Gettysburg battle is considered by historians as the turning point of the war. It was an invasion of the north by the southern force under Lee and his most trusted generals. In the terrific third day's fighting fortune hovered now above this banner, now above that. At last Lee drew off his shattered army and retreated back across the Potomac. Neither side did anything to boast of as far as losses were concerned. At first it was a toss-up in the engagement which would win. If the die had fallen the other way nobody can guess what the final result would have been.

Gettysburg is only 115 miles from Philadelphia, and that is only two hours' ride by rail from New York. If Lee had not been repulsed at Gettysburg, he might have been Sherman's march to the sea, turned the other end foremost. But Vicksburg fell at the very time Gettysburg was fought, and after that the Confederacy declined. Gettysburg was the "high water mark of the Confederacy."

Near the old wheat field is the monument to the Twentieth Indiana volunteers. A most interesting feature of the celebration was the presence of Confederate soldiers and officers who had fought at Gettysburg on the other side. Gen. Longstreet was invited to be there by Gen. Sickles. It was Longstreet's command that fought the Third corps' day. "Thank God," said the bitter feelings of those days are almost wiped out. A touching, beautiful letter was written by Congressman Barksdale, of Mississippi, in answer to an invitation to be present. He is the brother of Gen. Barksdale, who was in the Gettysburg fight. Gen. Barksdale himself was a member of congress before the war. He wore a wig. In the melee at the time Charles Sumner was struck down, Potter, of Wisconsin, snatched Barksdale's wig off. In his excitement Potter, not knowing it was a wig, was almost wild with consternation lest he had torn Barksdale, scalp off.

In answer to the invitation Congressman Barksdale writes: "I regret that my public duties will not permit me to visit the memorable battlefield on the interesting occasion to which you refer. The pleasure would be enhanced by the opportunity it would afford of strengthening the ties of a united brotherhood and the bonds of a union which I trust shall stand forever upon a foundation of justice to every section of a common country, and of peace and good will to all."

The recent celebration was under the charge of the Gettysburg Battlefield Memorial association, in connection with the Grand Army of the Republic, department of Pennsylvania. The Grand Army of the Republic veterans camped upon the battlefield six days, beginning July 2. The First Minnesota, suffered severely in the fight. At the first summons to war they left their wheat fields, stalwart young pioneers, a regiment strong. Many of them died upon the field. Along with their monument the illustration shows their graves, row upon row.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Combines, in a manner peculiar to itself, the best blood-purifying and strengthening remedies of the vegetable kingdom. You will find this wonderful remedy effective where other medicines have failed. Try it now. It will purify your blood, regulate the digestion, and give new life and vigor to the entire body. "Hood's Sarsaparilla did me great good. I was tired out from overwork, and it toned me up." Mrs. G. E. SIMMONS, Cohoes, N. Y. "I suffered three years from blood poison. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and think I am cured." Mrs. M. J. DAVIS, Brockport, N. Y.

Purifies the Blood

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence. "Hood's Sarsaparilla tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and gives me new life and vigor." J. J. THOMPSON, Register of Deeds, Lowell, Mass. "Hood's Sarsaparilla beats all other remedies, and is worth its weight in gold." J. BARRINGTON, 130 Bank Street, New York City.

"Jacob Nie, jr., has sold his saw mill at Bippus to Smith & Mossman, at Fort Wayne. The mill will be run by Mr. Worden, of Whitley county," says the Huntington Democrat.

Miss Maggie McConnell, of Columbus, Ohio, who is visiting her brother, J. M. McConnell, here, will leave for San Francisco next Monday, to spend her vacation on the Pacific coast.

The Gazette and Journal unjustly reflect on Hon. Ferd. J. Hayden, because he placed a price on the ground wanted for park purposes in the east end. Mr. Hayden does not own a foot of the ground and in fixing a price, simply acted for others as he was directed.

"Fred Boltz, one of the Little River ditch contractors, was in the city to-day. He tells us that work will be immediately commenced on the ditch and the work of excavating the stone will begin as soon as the arrangements can be perfected. Michael Baltes will have charge of that portion of the work," says the Huntington Democrat.

There are now forty-four I. O. O. F., encampments and 1,034 subordinate encampments in the United States, with a membership of over $100,000. From reports received by the grand secretary of the sovereign grand lodge the gain in membership in the order will be 10,000, making the membership in the U. States 530,000.

The city Y. M. C. A. will hold its next regular "home" meeting at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Knapp, 213 West Washington street. A cordial invitation is extended to all of whatever denomination or belief who have the welfare of the young at heart to attend and assist by their presence, their counsel, advice and prayers. Ladies are especially invited.

The executive committee of the state military encampment, to be held at Lafayette, has deposited $4,000 in the First National bank of Lafayette, as a guarantee fund to cover expenses. This is in addition to the $2,500 already subscribed by the citizens of that place to pay the free-for-all drill prizes. This will interest the Fort Wayne Rifles who expect to compete for the money.

The Third Presbyterian church people expect to have a great time at Rome City Friday. The promoters have been tireless in their efforts to make the pleasantest excursion of the season, and judging from the sale of tickets they will be handsomely rewarded. Boats can be had on the train and the island facilities are free to all. Everybody is invited to go with the merry party.

The blackberry crop is being harvested.

There is a stir among freight agents over the grain movement. New wheat begins to move freely, and all agents are on the alert for business. The lines carrying to the lakes seem, however, to be doing the business, and they ought to have it, if they can take care of it at the low rates they are making.

There was a big bond sale at Bluffton yesterday and $10,000 6 per cent. gravel road bonds were sold to S. A. Keane & Co., of Chicago, for $10,431.50. Mr. W. H. Barnett, of Dayton, who secured the Allen county bonds, was among the thirteen bidders. The figures, save one or two exceptions, were very close.

Thousands of men are flocking to the west and northwest for employment in railroad building. Four thousand miles are to be built this fall, and workmen are getting there as best they can. Some of them walk, but in most instances they steal their way on freight cars. On a Pittsburg "double header" last evening there were six tourists.

Judging from newspaper criticisms and reports in general, Haverly's American-European minstrels, to be with us next Tuesday, will eclipse anything recently seen in minstrelsy. All the cities in which this organization has appeared are enthusiastic in their praise of this company and judging from the list of people they will come up to all expectations.

Mr. J. S. Penkenbinder, of Richmond, Va., is in the city.

Mr. Hamp Nolan, the pressed brick man, is in the city.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON SEWERS.

We, the committee on sewers, make the following report:

1. We have awarded the contract to William Moellerling for constructing a 15-inch sewer in the first alley north of the Maumee road from University street to Schick street.

2. We have awarded the contract to Joseph Deheimer for constructing a 15-inch sewer in the alley between Melita street and Grand street, from Hoagland avenue to Harrison street.

3. We have awarded the contract to Joseph Deheimer for constructing a 15-inch sewer in the first alley south of Colerick street, from Main street to the first alley east of Fairfield avenue.

4. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Doehman for iron grates in the sand pits on the University street sewer.

5. In the matter of the resolution of Councilman Doehman, asking that the committee investigate the sewer between Grand and Hanna streets, we find that there is something wrong with said sewer, and recommend that the street commissioner and city engineer be instructed to examine the same and find out what is the matter with said sewer.

6. In favor of the ordinance for a 15-inch sewer in the alley between Brandt street and Dawson street, from Hoagland avenue to Webster street.

7. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Ely for a sand pit on the southwest corner of Washington street and Griffith street.

8. In the matter of constructing a brick sewer on Clinton street, from Hamilton street to DeWald street, we recommend that it be referred to the city civil engineer to report the proper outlet for said sewer.

JAMES WOLFE, Com. LEVI GRIFFITH, Con. CONCURRED IN.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

We, the committee on public improvements, to whom was referred the resolution of Councilman Ely, respectfully report that we find the old ashery in a bad and dilapidated condition and a nuisance to the public and would recommend that the city council should cause a clerk to notify the owners of said ashery to have the same torn down within five days, and if not complied with, the chief of the fire department be ordered to tear down said old ashery at once.

2. In favor of the remonstrance against the widening of the five feet on College street, we would recommend to the council to have College street opened to a uniform width of 50 feet between Washington and Berry street.

LEVI GRIFFITH, Com. PETER J. SCHEID, Con. CONCURRED IN.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

Your committee on assessments and taxes and city assessor, to whom was referred the petition of J. W. Pearce & Co., respectfully report that they are entitled to an overcharge of $4.07.

CHRISTIAN TRESSELT, Com. PETER J. SCHEID, Con. HERMAN MICHAEL, Con. CHAS. REESE, City Assessor.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC GROUNDS.

Your committee, to whom were referred the proposals for repairing and painting the roofs of the city hall and market house, would report that we have examined said bids and found them not to be satisfactory, as they are conflicting with the specifications of the city engineer. We therefore recommend that all of said bids be rejected and that the city engineer be instructed to advertise for new bids to repair the roofs of the city hall and market house and paint the same with two coats of oxid of iron paint.

CHAS. F. HAIBER, Com. CHRISTIAN TRESSELT, Con. CONCURRED IN, and civil engineer instructed to advertise for bids.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STREETS AND ALLEYS.

We, your committee on streets and alleys, report as follows: We recommend the following contracts: 1. To John McMahon, to grade and pave Third street.

2. To William Moellerling, to grade and pave Webster street.

3. To John McCann, to grade and pave east side of Webster street.

4. To William Moellerling, to grade and pave North Cass street.

5. To William Moellerling, to grade and pave Hanna street.

6. To William Moellerling, to grade and pave Calhoun street.

7. To John McMahon, to grade and pave Union street.

8. To John McMahon, to grade and pave Archer avenue.

9. To John McMahon, to grade and pave Nirdlinger avenue, south side.

10. To John McMahon, to grade and pave Nirdlinger avenue, north side.

11. To John McCann, to grade and pave Huffman street.

12. In favor of the remonstrance to grade and block West Wayne street.

13. In reference to resolution of Councilman

Racine asking to put up guards around the feeder canal bridge, we have instructed the street commissioner to put up the same.

We have also instructed the street commissioner to comply with the resolution of Councilman Kramer to repair the sand pits.

16. In relation to ordinance asking the privilege to put down poles for a new telephone company, we report adverse, as we cannot ascertain who the company are, and we do not think it is advisable to pass ordinances without knowing who for.

17. We also report in favor of the resolution of Councilman Schwartz to raise a portion of the sidewalk on Calhoun street at the city's expense. After the city compels owners of property to put down sidewalks and afterward changes the grade again, the city is compelled to put the same down to grade at her expense.

18. We have also instructed the street commissioner to fill up the gutters on John and Gay streets, as per resolution of Councilman Wesell.

19. In reference to the petition of Joseph Laulin asking the privilege to put down his own sidewalk on Walton avenue, we report that the city has no right to allow him that privilege after the contract is let.

20. We also report in favor of the petitioners on Huffman street to put down their own sidewalk, providing the same is done in contract time.

21. Adverse to the prayers of the petition asking to put down their own walk in front of lot 28, county addition. The city has given out the contract and has no power to grant the privilege.

22. We also report in favor of the petitioners along Nirdlinger avenue to allow them to put down their own sidewalk if the same is done in contract time.

23. Adverse to the petition of Fred J. Hayden and in favor of the resolution of Councilman Buttenbender to grade and pave Davis street as per resolution.

24. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Storm to grade and pave Stophlet street.

25. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Schied to grade and pave the east side of Calhoun from Murray to Hamilton streets.

26. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Haiber to grade and pave St. Mary avenue as per resolution.

27. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Wesell to grade and pave the west side of Hanna street.

28. Adverse to the resolution of Councilman Schied to grade and pave Lafayette street from Leith street to city limits, for the reason there is but one house there and said party objects to it.

29. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Schied to grade and pave Leith street, from Calhoun to Jane street, instead of Lafayette street.

30. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Schied to grade and pave the north side of Horace street, from Smith street to the third lot west of Horton avenue.

31. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Griffith to grade and pave Harrison street, from Allen street to the south line of lot No. 13 Williams' addition.

32. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Griffith to grade and pave Allen street, from Calhoun to Harrison street on the north side.

33. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Griffith to grade and pave the west side of Fairfield avenue from Walnut street to the south line of lot No. 1, Nimke's addition.

34. In favor of the resolution of Councilman Haiber to grade and pave Fifth street, from Wells to North Calhoun street, instead of Cass street.

35. In reference to the resolution of Councilman Racine asking for sidewalk on Archer avenue, we would ask for further notice.

36. In favor of petitions asking for sidewalk on west side of Wabash avenue, we recommend that the sidewalk be built from Washington street to Hamilton street.

37. In favor of resolution of Councilman Tresselt, to grade and pave with cedar blocks and pave the gutters with black stone on Main street, from Court to Barr street.

AN ATROCIOUS ACT.

A Discharged Workman's Spite-
ful Vandalism

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 14.—An amazing act of vandalism has occurred in this city. On Saturday evening Mike King, a workman who has been employed by Russell Bros., contractors, on the basement of the United Presbyterian church in the process of construction in this city, was discharged for inefficient work. About 9 o'clock that evening the wretch took his tools and commenced breaking off the corners of the fine cut-stone work of the basement. He worked steadily at his villainous task until 11 o'clock, and then skipped. The entire basement will have to be torn down and rebuilt with fresh stone at a cost of $500. King recently came from Texas. He left for Columbus, and has not been captured yet.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 14.—About fifty Indiana bicyclists to-day completed their annual tour. They left this city on Thursday last, going to Nashville, thence to Lewisville, New Castle, Pendleton, Noblesville, Tippecanoe, Crawfordsville and Lebanon, and from Lebanon to this city, arriving here at 1 o'clock to-day, having covered the distance of about 200 miles.

British Elections.

LONDON, July 14.—The conservatives have a plurality of seventy-three over the liberals of every shade, but as compared with the members of all the other parties are in a minority of four, the count standing: Conservatives, 295; all others, 299. There are still seventy-six districts to be heard from.

A Hard Prize Fight.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—John Robson and James Harley had fought eight stubborn rounds with hard kid gloves, near Indian Hook, Fairmount Park, yesterday morning, when the alarm was given that the park guards were coming. The referees decided the fight a draw.

The Teachers.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 14.—Eight thousand delegates were gathered at Topeka, Kan., last night, for the National Educational association's convention, which opened this morning. It was found necessary to erect 200 tents in Capitol square, it being impossible to lodge all the visitors in hotels and private houses. A reception was tendered the delegates last evening in the Opera house, Governor Martin delivering the address of welcome.

CHOICE BITS.

The News That is Cullied for the "Sentinel" Readers.

J. F. Mickey, a respected business man of Muncie is dead.

Thomas Useiman, a pioneer of Parke county, died suddenly one day last week aged 75 years.

The first convention of the Miami county Sunday school union will be held at Deaver, July 29 and 30.

Ira Ganz, living in Kosciusko county, has lost both hands, and will probably lose both feet, with the gout.

At the joint convention of Miami and Cass counties, held at Logansport, Charles G. Cox, of Cass, was nominated for representative.

Robert Jolly, of Indianapolis, is seeking to secure a divorce from his wife on the ground that he was drunk when he married her and did not know what he was about.

Jerry McCarty, employed at the Cincinnati, Wabash and Michigan railroad shops, at Wabash, while mixing alkalies, was badly injured about the face by the explosion of the compound. The doctors fear he will lose an eye.

Evansville has forty churches, allotted as follows: Baptist, 10; Methodist, 9; Presbyterian, 5; Roman Catholic, 5; German Evangelical, 3; Lutheran, 2; Jewish, 2; Protestant Episcopal, 2; Christian, 1, and Unitarian, 1.

The colored people are making extensive arrangements for the celebration of Emancipation day at Greensburg, Aug. 8. Ex-Senator Bruce has assured John Sherman that he will positively be present and address the people on that occasion.

The democratic state central committee is called to meet at Indianapolis next Tuesday. The state convention will probably be held on or about August 10th. The republican committee was in session Monday but did not call their state convention, but it will probably be held September 1st.

COUNTY TAXES.

The Board of Equalization
Grinding Away.

The county board of equalization is still in session and so far have done nothing but discuss the advisability of cutting down the assessment in the city down 5 per cent. This would be agreed to, but a few big tax payers, already assessed very low, would reap the benefit, while small property owners would get but slight relief. Commissioner Brannan made a great plea for low taxes this morning and one or two members of the board are with him.

The whole county assessment will be equalized if the citizens just exert themselves and go before the board to urge a reduction. Assessor Slater, instead of cutting taxes down in his revised assessment, has increased them in the Fourth and Fifth wards and added to the burden in the city. The board of equalization should throw the whole assessment out as excessive, as compared with outside townships.

The remains of Miss Agnes Green, aged twenty-four, and the eldest daughter of Rev. J. Green, presiding elder of the Warsaw district, North Indiana M. E. conference, who died suddenly at her home in Wabash of brain disease Monday, were brought to Fort Wayne at noon and interred in Lindenwood cemetery. Quite a large number of friends attended the funeral.

Gottlieb Kramer had his right hand mangled by a saw in a factory at Arcola yesterday. He is now at his home in this city and Dr. Rosenthal will try to save all but one of his fingers.

Solomon Baum was made a full fledged citizen, receiving his final papers from Judge Hensch to-day.

Samuel B. Putman and Carrie Wright have been licensed to wed. The groom is a brother of Mr. A. A. Putman.

Before Judge Hensch: Samuel H. Shoaff by Thomas B. Shoaff, vs. Francis H. Wolke et al.; evidence heard and finding for the plaintiff; George D. Graue was appointed commissioner. Enrilla Driver vs. Enoch Driver for divorce; judgment of dismissal.

Mr. J. H. Bass and G. W. Pixley & Co., this afternoon obtained control and purchased the old Central block, on East Berry street, from Henry Immell. Mr. Bass held a mortgage on the property and the Messrs. Pixley paid $16,000 for the west forty feet and will erect a business block on the site which includes forty feet west, owned by Mr. Pixley and Marion Long.

IN THE FOOT HILLS.

An Antediluvian Captive Has His Cell Broken Into.

(Special Correspondence.)

PRESAERO, Cal., July 8.—A recent find up in the foot-hills of the Pacific coast range of mountains has added another to the catalogue of those creatures that are able to maintain an existence for periods which it makes one giddy to contemplate, and, apparently, under the most unfavorable circumstances. A few days ago a party of laborers engaged in excavating for a road along the side of a mountain spur, with a precipitous declivity upon one side and a yawning canyon on the other, lighted upon a collection of bowlders, water-worn and rounded by tide or current in some long past elemental dispensation. One of these, too heavy for the handling, was broken up. Its interior disclosed a cavity containing a member of that unpleasant fraternity of exaggerated spiders known as the tarantula. When first discovered the animal was of a bright green complexion and symptomatically comatose, but after a brief experience in this enlarged environment it regained the inquisitive characteristics of its race, as well as a large share of those irascible and belligerent tendencies by which the tarantulae are distinguished. The cavity in which this antediluvian was inclosed was about an inch longer than the animal, and at one extremity of the same there were traces of textile work, as if at some time or other during its incarceration it had indulged in visions of domestic ties and social enjoyments to be realized in some delicious posterity.

It is noteworthy that the creature here spoken of was to all appearances of the same species with those that are now common in the locality where it was discovered. This would justify the suggestion that the tarantulae, in spite of their unpleasant manners and ignoble appearance, are a family of no mean antiquity. The rock in which the individual was immured being of the sedimentary species, the conclusion must have occurred while it was in the process of formation. The abundance of remains of marine shells in the locality where the discovery was made would seem to indicate that the stratum in which the creature was contained had, at some time, been a part of the bed of an ocean. From these incidents, with some assistance of the imagination, we may construct a brief outline of the history and experiences of the elderly captive.

At a date to which, in all probability, Adam's fall was comparatively an event of yesterday, the party in question, taking his constitutional upon the border of some nameless primordial ocean, was suddenly overwhelmed by a wave, and buried in the course of centuries, more or less, the sand having in the meantime solidified, the concrete, through one of those changes of level which the surface of our globe is subjected, became a part of the sea bottom, to be inhabited by molluscs of various species, and to serve as a cemetery for the generations of their posterity. Broken up, after eons have elapsed, by some intemperate colic, its fragments, worn into rotundity by tidal surges, are slowly lifted by forces from beneath until that which was once the bottom of an ocean becomes the top of a mountain, there, perhaps, to begin again a circuit of subsidence and elevation.

How was the involuntary captive affected by the vicissitudes of the vehicle in which he was a passenger? Was his life one long lethargy, or did the rude shocks to which his captivity was now and then subjected, rouse him to a state of semi-consciousness and prompt him to the utterance of a little tartanular profanity at the roughness of the thoroughfare over which he was being transported? Had he even the shadow of an idea that he was destined to the dignity of a living link between the unbreached infancy of the human world and the Christian civilization of the Nineteenth century? How many empires have been erected and subverted; how many dynasties have been elevated and extinguished; how much history has been made and forgotten; how many millions of millions of human beings have lived out their little span and surrendered to an insatiable oblivion; how many loves and hates, and faiths and fanaticalisms and ambitions and intolerance, have been born and died; how much of human dignity and nobleness have been manifested and honored or despised, while this insignificant creature has been doing away the centuries in his inexorable environment, and though deprived of air and food, clinging to its minute spark of vitality, as if that which is, to other creatures, a sentence of death, were to it an assurance of an endless existence?

The tarantula-Americanus belongs to the order of burrowing spiders. It is provided not for the capture of its prey, but digs a pit in the ground, which it lines with a tissue of its own manufacture, surrounding the same with a trap door so contrived that it closes of itself, and so colored upon the surface as to be indistinguishable from its surroundings. Hidden there, enveloped by telephonic lines of his own construction, he obtains timely notice of the approach of any creature with which he inclines to hold an interview, and conducts himself accordingly. Although able to endure, as would appear from the foregoing, a fast of a few thousand years, more or less, in continuous hibernation, he is a creature of a lively appetite and an untiring digestion; and, being supplied with very efficient weapons both of offense and defense, the interviews which he solicits are apt to terminate to the disadvantage of the party interviewed.

Speaking of burrowing animals, one would be inclined to suppose that, of all creatures, the one least adapted by natural conformation and reputed quality of disposition, to the work of rock excavation, would be a clam. And yet this species of this mollusk—the very emblem of contentment and happy inertia—inhabiting the coasts of the Pacific, between high and low water, which bores for itself a place of residence in the friable sand rock of the region, and there lives, multiplied and undisturbed, the burrowing clam is of the round, hard-shelled family, similar to the quahog in shape, about half of a silver dollar in diameter, and having no projecting soft parts. It appears to live in colonies, though each individual has its separate house, and is obtained by breaking up the rock into which it is inclosed. It is prized as an edible. How this seemingly helpless creature contrives to penetrate the rock in which it makes its habitation, what are the tools which it employs or to what end are laborers which, to compare small things with great, must be incredulous, undertaken and prosecuted, are questions reserved.

Maxwell Sentenced and a Bank
Cashier Escapes.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Hugh M. Brooks, alias W. H. Lenox Maxwell, convicted of murdering Chas. Arthur Preller, was sentenced this morning to be hanged August 27th, 1886.

The Provident savings bank closed its doors to-day, and "has made an assignment. Almond B. Thompson, the cashier, has absconded. The liabilities exceed the assets by $40,000.

ST. LOUIS, July 14.—Thompson is a graduate of Harvard college and since he has held this responsible position in this city has been regarded as a man of sterling integrity. He is the president of the Harvard club, of this city, and of the light cavalry, and a prominent Knight Templar. He announced his intention last week of accompanying the light cavalry to the state encampment at Sweet Springs and it was generally supposed he was there. Advice from that point, however, state that he has never been near the camp and it is supposed he has joined the army of defaulters in Canada. No other cause for his defection can be assigned than fast living, for he was never known to speculate. The directors of the bank have filed a petition for a receiver.

W. H. Thompson was appointed receiver. The bank's statement of yesterday showed assets, $1,668,829; liabilities, $993,782. The directors say they cannot realize on the assets to the full amount.

The Strikes.

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—The 400 rug weavers, who have been on a strike at the rug and carpet manufactory of John Bromley & Sons, returned to work yesterday under protest. The strike was caused by the refusal of the firm to lay off a learner.

NASVILLE, July 14.—Cole City, Dad county, Georgia, where are located the mines worked by convicts, is the scene of intense excitement. One hundred state prison convicts there have refused to work, and the authorities think they will have to shoot the ring leaders or starve the whole body into submission.

CUT IN PIECES.

A Son and Father Attack a Neighbor and are Killed.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 14.—Near West Fort, this county, Rev. John Lokey and McClelland disagreed as to the location of the line between their farms and had a furious quarrel. Lokey seized his gun and attempted to shoot his antagonist, but the cap snapped. The father and son again assaulted McClelland, when the latter drew his knife. The old man and boy were literally cut to pieces and there is no hope for their recovery. McClelland had his preliminary trial yesterday and was acquitted.

Knights of Pythias.

TORONTO, July 14.—Six thousand uniformed Knights of Pythias paraded yesterday, the occasion being the session of the supreme lodge, which referred to a special committee a ritual for a ladies' rank.

PRESAERO, July 14.—At the regular monthly meeting of the Western Nail association held here yesterday the rate on nails was reaffirmed. Trade was reported fair and stocks light.

WE WIN.

Two More Lottery Prizes Come to Fort Wayne People.

The Louisiana lottery drawing occurred yesterday. No. 81,376 drew the capital prize, No. 77,227 the second and No. 19,406 the third. Two fifth tickets of the capital prize were sold here and Mr. Fred C. Boltz, the agent, has ascertained that William Clem, a farmer living four and one-half miles from Monroeville, bought one of them and wins $15,000. Several approximation tickets were sold here and a number of people got $150. George Zurbach, of New Haven, gets that amount, but the lucky holder of the other fifth of the capital prize has not made his appearance.

Mr. Clem came to town at noon and had doubts about his fortune until Agent Boltz sent the ticket for collection. Mr. Clem will get his gold by return mail and is correspondingly happy. Mr. Boltz inclines to the belief that another fifth of the approximation prize was not sold here, although his clerk, Will Mannix, believes it was. The lucky person has not responded.

G. F. Watt, the commission merchant, drew an approximation prize of $150, as did T. H. Sullivan, of Garrett, and E. Burnett, of Jackson.

An Old Soldier Talks.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE SENTINEL.
As regards Judge Lowry's resolution to loan tents to the soldiers' reunion to be held here, I would state that a similar resolution has passed every session of congress during the last ten years, but the tents were not loaned, for the reason that the government has no tents. All the tents owned by the government were given to the sufferers of the Ohio river floods and the government is not manufacturing any tents. The regular army is quartered in barracks permanently established, and until there is another war the government will not purchase or manufacture tents for soldiers. If the reunion committee is expecting tents from "Uncle Sam" to quarter the million or more veterans that will be here next month, they will be minus shelter from the storms and diarrhoeas of August.

OLD SOLDIER.

The July Scientific American.

We are indebted to the book store of Keil & Bro., for a copy of the Building Edition of the Scientific American for July. Two elegant plates in colors, of two different dwellings of moderate cost, are given in perspective, with large sheets of details and specifications. There is something delightfully realistic about this method of presenting architectural work. Not only are the plans and construction set before us, but the houses themselves as they actually appear, with their grounds and surroundings, are depicted in natural shades and tints. A full idea is thus gained how the intended dwelling will look. In addition to the above attractive features, the number contains a variety of fine engravings of cottages, dwellings and plans, with various other interesting subjects, all richly illustrated. The cheapness of this elegant work is surprising—only 15 cents a number, $1.50 a year. It enjoys and deserves a large circulation.

Obituary.

Mrs. Clarissa Kelsey, born in Montgomery county, Ohio, Aug. 2d, 1804, died at her residence in Zanesville, Thursday morning July 8th, 1886, aged 81 years 11 months and 6 days. About fifteen years ago she was stricken down with paralysis and had since been an invalid. Oct. 25th, 1821 she was united in marriage with John Kelsey, who survives her, making nearly sixty-five years they lived together in the holy bonds. She leaves to mourn her loss an aged husband, six children, two brothers and quite a number of grand and great-grandchildren and very many friends. Two sons and two daughters preceded her to glory. In 1827, she united with the Baptist church and was a constant, humble christian fifty-four years and died in the faith of the gospel and the hope of immortality. She left a home and kind friends on earth for a grimmer home and dearer friends in heaven. Her home was in order and she was ready to depart, as she often said. Her funeral was largely attended on Friday afternoon, the 9th. The services were conducted by Rev. Johnson, pastor of the United Brethren church, of Zanesville.

The Streets Of Belfast Red With The Blood of the Police and Orangemen.

A Severe Storm of Hail and Rain Prevails on Land and Sea.

A DISGRACEFUL RIOT.

The Catholics and Orangemen
Have Another Fight.

DUBLIN, July 14.—During the rioting at Belfast last night between the Catholics and Protestants, four taverns and a number of dwellings were wrecked. The police and soldiers charged the rioters several times and they at last succeeded in clearing the main streets. In the alley-ways, however, dangerous knots of men are lurking and fears of a renewal of the disturbance are entertained. Among those wounded last night was a sergeant. It is thought he cannot recover. A constable and many civilians received severe wounds. This morning the head constable of the Waterford force, and a private soldier, attempted to arrest two Orangemen, father and son. The latter shot and killed both the constable and soldier. The situation at Waterford is serious. The streets are being patrolled by police and cavalry.

BELFAST, July 14.—The city is quiet to-day. An investigation shows that most of the fighting was between the police and the Orangemen, the latter assaulting the former because they prevented the Orangemen from attacking the Catholics. Policeman Gardner, who was reported killed, is not dead, but is fatally injured and is lying at the point of death. Two civilians, named MacWaters and MacElry, were badly hurt.

HEAVY STORMS.

Sweep Over the Country, Dam-ing Property and Crops.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Last night's storm was a severe one on the lake. The wind blew great gusts and nearly all night there was a furious gale. Notwithstanding the severity of the storm there were comparatively few accidents to vessels reported.

AT PITTSBURGH.

A severe electrical and wind storm accompanied with rain and hail visited this section early this morning, doing great damage to fruits and cereals. The storm broke over the city about 2 o'clock and continued without abatement for three hours. During that time the rain fall was one and one-half inches. Along the Ohio river between Steubenville and this city, the storm was particularly severe.

AT DETROIT.

yesterday the storm was very severe. Large hail stones cut down corn and other vegetables. The storm was general throughout the state.

THE MARKETS.

CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, July 14.—Wheat, weak, cash, 78½c. August, 79½c. Corn, dull, Oats, steady, 29½c.

New York, July 14.—Wheat, opened ½c lower, but later ruled stronger and advanced ¼c, leading to a fair degree of activity; No. 2 red for August, 87½c. 88½c. Corn, opened ¼c lower, but later reacted ¼c, and closed at 43½c. Oats, quiet and steady at 36½c.

Mrs. Kate Headington, a Muncie milliner, has made an assignment for the benefit of her creditors. The assignee is C. R. Wright, of that city. Her liabilities are $3,000; assets about $2,500. The principal creditor is Mr. Wright, of Union City, whose claim of $1,400 is secured by mortgage on the stock.
